Located on the very edge of the Trossachs National Park and Ben Lawers Natural Nature Reserve, the beautiful village of Killin clusters around the Dochart Falls providing stunning scenery and with its lovely traditional buildings creates an old-world charm and outstanding scenery.

The area attracts visitors throughout the year as a superb base from which to explore Scotland and to enjoy the many outdoor pursuits the area has to offer including a golf course and bowling club. In a central location between the east and west coasts, the area provides access to many popular locations such as Perth, Stirling, Pitlochry, Oban and Fortwilliam.

Edinburgh and Glasgow airports are commutable from the area. Village life incorporates a library, medical practice, Post Office, shops, a church and a choice of restaurants. Public transport is also available. There is a primary school within the village, with secondary schooling at McLaren High in Callander and a school bus is available from the village.
